

C. V.

Name: Iman Mahmoud Ibrahim

Date of Birth: 3/5/1957

Nationality: Jordanian

Degrees:

- B.A, Sociology, University of Jordan, 1982
- Ph.D, Medical Sociology, University of London, 1995

Appointments:

- Teaching and Research assistant, Sociology department, University of Jordan, 1982-1983
- Head of the cultural unit, University of Applied Sciences, 1991-1992
- Assistant Professor, Department of Humanities and Social Sciences, Philadelphia University, 1995-present
- Head of Department of Humanities and Social Sciences, 2000-2004

Fields of Work and Research Interests:

- Medical Sociology
- Medical Anthropology
- Youth
- Women and Gender
- Sociology of Religion
- Sociological theory

Other Activities:

- Publishing articles in Jordanian newspapers
- Participating in the following university committees that include:

Social committees

Cultural committees

Annual Faculty of Arts conference

Student Funds committee

Research:

- “The role of the media in the acquisition of culture and knowledge among students of Jordanian Universities” co-authored with Professor Saleh Abu Osbaa, (presented at the international conference of Youth and Media), University of Manuba; Tunis, 2010

* The above research was funded by the deanship of scientific research at Philadelphia University.

- Analytical Sociological Study in the works of Montaigne (work in process)
- Illness and Social Reality: Positivist and Phenomenologist Perspectives.

Scholarships:

The D.A.D scholarship, Erlangen University, 2004

Courses Taught:

- Sociology
- Civilization and Human Thought (English and Arabic)
- Western Civilization and Culture
- Introduction to Mass Media Studies
- Mass Media and Society